reality, an age in which the impossible has become commonplace, an age in which we tend to take miracles of scientific achievement for granted.

In the physical sciences and in the arts devoted to the destruction of mailkind, we have made improcedented strides during the last 20 years. But have you stopped to wonder about the equally remarkable strides in the sciences devoted to the health of mankind? Do you realize that you can confidently expect to live 20 years longer than your grandparents could expect? And that yours will be a healthler life, too?

The price we pay for these achievements which daily affect every one of us is small indeed. A prescription for today's life saving drugs is probably the best purchase you have ever made — and a gilt-edged bargain in the value of health and time that it buys.

Across The Counter

You seem to feel rather strongly that I should have per-sonal liability protection," said Conger. Yes.'' I said, "with apologies

Joe Conger.

"Yes," I'said, "with apologies to Viceroy, cigarettes, you are the type of man who thinks for himself. And a Comprehensive Personal Liability can't be better described than. "The Thinking Man's Coverage!"

Joe grinned, "Why do you call it that?"

'How else can you describe a policy which is designed to protect your personal security? It affords protection against a potential loss of all you have accumulated, or, even hope to acquire. As an example, a child wandered into his neighbor's garage, turned on the power saw, and got seriously injured. The neighbors were away at the time — but a court, nevertheless, held him responsible to the tune of $22,500. And, unfortunately, the saw owner had, no personal liability coverage."

I continued. The average family owns only an equity in their home and car. This equity, as well as their established credit rating, should be protected. This means not only insurance against physical damage to their property but protection from liability claims which could attach these assets and worse, even their future income. The cost is amazingly low. Yet the protection is great. That's why it's "The Thinking Man's Coverage."

ge ". ''Sounds' reasonable," Joe jid ''Write it up.'' May we discuss the proper Jability Insurance with YOU?
